About the blog ...

Eclectic Evelyn is a lifestyle blog that covers a wide range of topics from product reviews to writing poetry. It's about rediscovering your creativity, experiencing life, and trying to figure out exactly what it means to be a "woman of a certain age" in the 21st century. It's about realizing the kids are grown, your life has changed, and now you need to figure out what to do with the other half of your life. It's about making changes in your life and putting yourself first for once.

- Interested in creating a social media buzz around your book?
- Need to incorporate organic posts into your campaign?
- Need more visits to your website or social media channels?

Find out how Eclectic Evelyn can help you bring attention to your brand, product, or book. We offer many ways of working together including product reviews, giveaways, sponsored posts, social shares, guest posts, interviews, and much more.

Product Reviews

Product Reviews allow us to introduce our readers to your items in a personal way. Studies show that people are more likely to purchase a product that has been recommended by a friend. That is why there has been a big boom in influencer marketing recently. The advantage to working with Eclectic Evelyn for your product reviews is that we limit our reviews to just a few items a month so our readers know that if we recommend a product we mean it.

There are no payments or fees involved with product reviews.

We do 2 types of product review posts

Product Review Post

300+ word blog post that focuses exclusively on your brand or product and our experience with it. The post will contain at least 1 picture of the product itself or the product in use. The post will include at least one link to the product or your website. Example post These Boots are Made for Fashion

Organic placement of product in a post

Placement of your product in a featured post that consists of 400+ words. The post may or may not have other links and will include at least 1 picture and 1 link to your product or website. This post remains on the website for at least 12 months and is shared regularly on social media creating more exposure. Example posts Introducing Your Cat to A Pet Carrier

Product Reviews are conducted by Evelyn (generation X) and/or Beth (millennial).

Let us know if you have a preference.

There are no payments or fees involved with product reviews. Instead, we ask for an exchange of products where you mail us products of a certain value and in return, we promote your product on our blog and social media channels. Instead of a payment, we accept and keep the products that we receive as a form of compensation for our time and efforts in promoting your brand and products. Products will be reviewed and posted within 14 to 30 days of receiving the product unless otherwise stated.
